

Isabelle Courville

Before joining Hydro-Quebec, Isabelle Courville has served as President Enterprise, Bell Canada. The Enterprise business segment comprises Bell Canada's 1,000 largest customers from the private and public sectors and generates $3 billion in revenues. Shifting the focus of the entire organization from product selling to solution selling, her goal has been to provide her customers with advanced and integrated communication solutions and enable them to better manage information and their overall communication needs.

Previously, Ms. Courville was President and Chief Executive Officer of Bell Nordiq Group Inc. (Télébec-NorthernTel), a telecommunications leader in the peripheral regions of Ontario and Québec. In this capacity, she successfully spearheaded the creation of the Bell Nordiq Income Fund, the first of its kind in Canada's telecommunications industry. Ms. Courville also brought to fruition the integration of Télébec and NorthernTel, enabling the two companies to benefit from synergies and efficiency gains while remaining well positioned to meet the specific needs of their residential and business customers in Ontario and Québec.

An engineer and lawyer, Isabelle Courville has spent most of her career in the telecommunications industry, with Bell Canada, where she has held a number of executive-level positions. Among these, as Senior Vice-President - Supply Chain and Capital Management, she administered Bell's Capital program and oversaw the planning and monitoring of Bell Canada's investments in technology. She also led the team responsible for managing Stentor's national and international alliances as Vice-President - Alliances and Legal Services at Stentor Resource Centre.

Ms. Courville is a member of the Board of Directors of the Sainte-Justine Hospital Foundation. Until recently, she was a member of the "Conseil des gouverneurs associés de l'Université de Montréal", of the Board of directors of the Conference Board of Canada and of the Board of directors of Montréal International.

Isabelle Courville holds a bachelor's degree in engineering physics from the École Polytechnique de Montréal and a bachelor's degree in civil law from McGill University. She is a member of the Ordre des ingénieurs du Québec, the Barreau du Québec and the Canadian Bar Association. For the second year, Ms. Courville was awarded Canada's Most Powerful Women: Top 100 Award in the Corporate Executives category awarded by Women's Executive Network (WXM).
