A new video at www.hydloandfriends.com

Many environmental follow-up activities are about cisco, a fish species highly valued by the Cree community of Waskaganish. Filmed at Smokey Hill, this video allows us to experience dip-net fishing with two Waskaganish residents, Ricky Weistche and his son, Anson. It's a great example of how traditional cisco knowledge is passed down through generations.

Its hosts, Luke MacLeod and Luc Duquette, discuss the environmental follow-up activities related to the Eastmain-1-A/Sarcelle/Rupert project, as well as the concerns of land users with regard to Hydro-Québec's facilities and activities.
